Disarmament

In a rather animated meeting of the League of Nations the disarmament committee the failure was registered of the proposal of the assembly last year that an attempt be made to limit armaments for two years to the amount of their next budget. It was reported that only 15 countries had replied in the affirmative, six countries were willing to accept the proposal conditionally, while seven had given no further answer.

Of Interest To Ladies

Though threatened with loss of their own and their children's lives the women of Martin's Fork, Kentucky, are rotting out the moonshiners' stills in the valleys of this mountainous district.

The Meighan government has pledged itself, if returned to power, to give woman a seat in the senate.

"And I want to say that I sympathise with the southern settlers in their troubles and one of the first things this government must do is to try and find some solution for that problem."—Premier Greenfield

Women of Canada will be out in full voting strength on Dominion election day, when, according to an unofficial estimate more than 1,250,000 will be entitled to cast their ballots. The same estimates give the total voting strength of both sexes at approximately 3,000,000.

District Convention Of Womens Institutes Held In Chauvin

The Women's Institute convention for the Wainwright constituency was held in the Oddfellow's hall, Chauvin on Friday September 2nd. There was a good turn out of delegates from the different districts, comprising the constituency, i.e., from Ribstone, Edgerton and Wainwright, and a most enjoyable and, we hope, profitable time was had by all.

The provincial speaker was the Women's Institute provincial secretary, Mrs A. H. Rogers, of Fort Saskatchewan, who is also if we mistake not, secretary for the Federated Institutes as well. The convention was opened at two o'clock and with Mrs Rogers on the platform was Mrs D. W. Parcels, constituency convenor, and Mrs L. E. Roy, constituency secretary. Mrs Parcels acted as chairman, and performed the duties of G.L. Hudson, an Mrsd usual efficiency with her usual efficiency, and Mrs G. L. Hudson, of Wainwright, nee Miss Bessie Pilkie, a lady well-known in Edmonton for her gift of song, led the community singing, and contributed several solos, and one in core. Other musical items were a song by one of our local songstress Mrs A. E. Keith, who is always sure of an enthusiastic reception and an instrumental duet by two ladies from Wainwright which was perfectly rendered and much enjoyed by the audience.

The meeting having been opened by the singing of 'O, Canada,' followed by the recitation of 'The Club Woman's creed,' the address of welcome was given by Mrs. Armour, and the reports of the year's work was given by the Wainwright, Edgerton and Ribstone branches. These reports while all different in regard to the line of activity followed had each of them the underlying motive—that of service to the community to which they belonged, Ribstone has of course always the tangible evidence of a successful fair day to their credit, while Wainwright amongst other things things had had much success in serving lunches which were 'different'. All housewives will immediately understand the demand of the ladies presented (headed by Mrs. Rogers) to be initiated into the art of making a lunch that was 'different'. Edgerton also had a varied list of achievements to its name, of the helping hand variety, lunches included, and work in connection with the school, while at the same time being able to report through Miss Wheeler the activities of a girls club, which from its list of accomplishments is a real live wire and bids fair to equal, if not outstrip many longer formed girls' clubs doing Institute work.

The Chauvin report which will be given in full elsewhere in the Chronicle had the support of the Restroom as the main object to work for through the medium of serving lunches, and getting up parties, while as usual this society assisted the refreshment booth on Fair Day. The various reports having approved of and adopted, there was more community singing, Annie Laurie,—Land of Hope and Glory,—Old Folks at Home,—The Battle Hymn of the Republic, and O Canada, being the particular folk songs chosen.

Dominion Election Coming This Fall

The speech of Premier Meighan at London in the course of which he announced early dissolution and a general election before the new year, sets forth fairly plainly the issues on which the government intends to wage the fight. These issues will be more clearly enunciated as the campaign proceeds and the government's tactics promise to be somewhat similar to those adopted during the election of 1911.

The premier has chosen to make the tariff and protection the broad issue of the fight.

War Veterans Take Political Action

A resolution calling for the Army and Navy, the G.A.U.V. and G.W.V.A. to amalgamate for the purpose of creating an organization to cope with the present political situation was adopted by a committee of representatives tonight and will be presented to general meetings immediately. The intention is to take political action.

Labor And Farmers Political Union

James Simpson, secretary of the Ontario section of the Canadian Labor party, who returned today from Winnipeg where the Dominion Labor Party was formulated, announced that immediate steps would be taken to get into touch with the farmers' political organization to discuss amalgamation in accordance with resolutions adopted with Hon. T. A. Crerar, leader of the Agrarian movement.

Our New Serial

Our new serial will be found not only interesting, but also instructive. It is a complete survey of "How Canada is governed. It deals with the matter in simple language and comprehensively from an historical view showing how our government has developed to its present status.

HOW CANADA IS GOVERNED

In the course of this book it will be necessary to use certain words and phrases which are constantly in the mouths of those who speak of the institutions of government in a country.

Among those words are "government," "law," "constitution," "administration," "parliament," "executive power," "legislative power" and "judicial power," the meaning of which it is important to explain at the very commencement, so that the reader may thoroughly understand the subjects which this book treats.

It is always difficult—indeed in some respects, impossible—to give short and exact definitions of terms of government which cover so vast a ground of human experience as those in question. All that I shall attempt to do is to give such explanations as will suffice for the intelligent reading of a book which is not written for the scholar, or lawyer, or professor, who has mastered these subjects, but for the student entering on the study of Canadian government and for that large body of people who are absorbed in the engrossing employments of life and have but few opportunities for reading of this class.

GOVERNMENT

In every organized society or community of persons like the Dominion of Canada, there must be some machinery, or system of rules, by which the individual actions of the members composing that society, and their relations with one another can be regulated for the good of one and all.

The machinery or system of rules which performs all this important work is called "The Government," which, followed to its old Greek origin, means to steer the ship. To steer "the ship of state" means to govern, or direct its movements. The true object of this directing power is the security of life and property, and the well-being and happiness of the whole community. The forms of government takes are numerous. There is no more interesting study than that which traces the development of the different stages of government; from which the parent rules, down to the composite forms which have grown up in the course of thousands of years to meet the varied conditions of modern society. Canada though still dependent in certain matters on the parent state exercises most extensive powers of self-government; and that government follows in the forms and principles the system of government in the parent state.

In the first place, Canada is under a 'monarchical' form of government, because at the head of her affairs and of the whole empire is the monarch or sovereign, not chosen from time to time by popular vote, but wearing the crown by hereditary right. In the second place, Canada is under a parliamentary form of government, because the power of making the laws is vested in a body called a parliament. This body consists of the sovereign and two houses one consisting of members appointed by the sovereign on the advice of his council and one of members elected by the people. In the third place, Canada is under a representation form of government, because the people choose from time to time a certain number of men to represent them in parliament and in the provincial legislatures. In the fourth place, Canada is under a federal form of government because the Dominion consists of a number of provinces federated or united by compact or agreement with certain powers of government vested in each of the provinces and certain powers vested in the federal or central government.

And lastly, Canada is under a responsible form of government, that is to say, the ministers who form what is called the government are responsible in the first place to the House of Commons, the members of which are elected by the people, who can turn the government out of office if they are dissatisfied with it and secondly to the people, who if they are dissatisfied with the government can at a general election which must be held every few years elect members who will refuse to support the ministers forming the government and will so turn them out of office. It is not of course likely that all persons will agree in such matters and therefore all such questions are decided by majorities. If most of the selected members support the government it will be sustained, and so again those candidates who receive most votes at the elections becomes the members. Nor are these the only forms of government. There is also the municipal government which has jurisdiction over a number of questions, affecting the comfort, convenience and security of the inhabitants of cities, towns, villages and other municipal divisions. And then too, there are the school boards which are charged with the supervision and management of the education of the children and boards of health that enforce the sanitary laws and many other subordinate bodies each charged with certain duties and powers. Accordingly from the supreme government in England, which manages the great affairs of a mighty empire, down to the little village council, which looks after the petty affairs of a small community, we see how many bodies it takes to make up the machinery which governs Canada.

LAW OF THE LAND

The principal duty of every government is to execute or carry out The Law of the Land. In its general sense the law is a collection of rules and orders, imposed by some established and recognized authority for the government of persons living in a political society or community. The fact that there is a government or power behind this law to enforce it, and a public opinion that demands its enforcement is what really gives the law strength. The law which regulates the system of federal union is known as the British North America Act, a statute passed in 1867 by the supreme power of the empire, the parliament of Great Britain and Ireland. In addition there are numerous rules, usages, and customs, which have the force of law though not contained in any statute, and many other details of parliamentary and responsible government, which regulate the formation or resignation of a ministry, and such as those as the writer will explain fully hereafter (see Third Part, c. 1, sec. 6). All the methods of government which have been briefly described above, monarchical, parliamentary, representative, federal, and responsible, are secured and regulated by this elaborate system of law and rules, which forms the constitution of the Dominion—in other words, a body of principles constituted by the proper authorities. Then there is the statutory law of the land, made up of the numerous statutes or acts of the various legislative bodies on the many subjects under their respective control. Then there is that vast body of rules and usages and judicial decisions which have come to us from England and comprise the common law of the country, and in the Province of Quebec there is the law brought from France (see Fourth Part). The system of law which we possess is consequently very complex in its origin and is the result of the experiences of many centuries. Both England and France have contributed the foundations of our system, and we have built on that foundation a large body of rules admirably adapted to the conditions of our country.

EXECUTIVE, LEGISLATIVE, AND JUDICIAL POWERS

The powers of government are divided into what are known as the executive, legislative, and judicial departments. The executive power carries out and administers or executes the law of the land. From the governor-general and the ministers of the crown who form his government, the lieutenant-governors and the members of the provincial governments, down to the humble constable executing a writ or order of a court, there is a large body of public officers engaged every day in administering or executing the law of the land. The legislative power makes the law. The Imperial Parliament of the United Kingdom, the supreme legislative body, the Parliament of Canada, and the Legislatures of the several Provinces. The judicial power is vested in the judges who administer justice, apply and interpret the law, and in certain cases prescribe punishment.

$2,000,000 Worth Of Furs Trapped In Saskatchewan: 1920

During the hunting season of 1920, furs valued at more than $2,000,000 were sold by Saskatchewan trappers. Muskrat pelts brought the heaviest revenue, Chief Game Warden Fred Bradshaw reports. Sale of these amounted to $1,009,476. They sold at $2 a pelt. Coyote skins were the next heaviest item on the sale list. More than 18,000 of these were sold, bringing a revenue of $294,176. One of the surprising features of the statement is that which deals with skunk pelts. It shows that 9,974 of these were sold for $5 each, bringing returns to trappers amounting to $49,870. Other animals which produced good returns for hunters were: Minks, martens, beavers, black and silver foxes, weasels, badgers, and wolverines. Mr. Bradshaw says: "The most noticeable spread is that of muskrats, there being 380,328 pelts less than were purchased the year before. Beaver are down 500 skins, skunks show an increase of 4,000 and weasels display a remarkable increase of 35,000. All varieties of foxes show a slight decrease, while the remaining kinds of fur bearers show only slight variations from the catch of 1919.

During the first six months of this year, 535,000 feet of lumber were exported to foreign countries by British Columbia mills.

Canadian Cattle Favored At Glasgow

The Glasgow Herald gives a detailed account of the sale of the Alberta steers that were sent over by the provincial government in July. It says: "They were a wonderfully good lot, taken as a whole. A few were overfat and overweight for the time of the year. They opened the eyes of Old Country feeders, especially those in Ireland. The heaviest animal in the lot weighed 1,760 lbs. He was two and a half years old, and brought £58 sterling. Converting this into Canadian currency and deducting the exchange it would mean a return of $230.84. The largest total return received for any one animal was £63 sterling for a steer that weighed only 1610 lbs, or 150 lbs less than the former. In Canadian currency this would equal $268.74, or 16½c per lb. liveweight, as against 10 1-10c per lb. for the heavier one. The last named animal was closely followed by another which weighed 1540 lbs, and brought $247.76 in Canadian currency, or 16c per lb.

Alberta Will Enforce Liquor Legislation

We intend to make a real attempt to enforce the existing liquor legislation in this province and will be quite willing to co-operate with Saskatchewan or any other province to that end.—Premier Greenfield

Alberta Butter Wins Motherwell Shield

The Motherwell Shield, offered for the highest aggregate score in the first three sections for creamery butter at was won by the Edmonton City Dairy, of Edmonton, with a score of 96. The Central Creameries of Calgary coming second with 96.5. Saskatchewan came third with 96.4. Alberta came first in the provincial competition, Manitoba second, Quebec third, and Saskatchewan fourth.

The Aims Of The Women's Institutes

The aim of Women's Institutes is a full, well-balanced life of serious thought mingled with play. Miss Emily Guest, M. A., from the Department of Agriculture, Ont., spoke in Toronto lately on the quiet beginning of the great movement which is travelling from province to province in Canada to the British Motherland, and the countries of Europe, as Ontario's gift to the world—a working plan of co-operation between home-makers and Government by which the best results of college and social research may be put at the service of the home.

Her Majesty, the speaker noted one of the best homemakers of the Empire, is President of the Sandringham Women's Institute, and Princess Mary is one of the most active women of rural Ontario in their after-the-war outlook, were concentrating as never before on great nation-building through better home-making and community development.

Greenfield Gives Assurance To The Women's Institutes

The attitude of the new government towards the Women's Institutes of Alberta is very clearly defined in a message received from Premier Greenfield by the provincial W. I. secretary, Mrs A. H. Rogers. The message reads:

"There appears to be some feeling of uncertainty among the members of the Women's Institutes in some parts of the province as to what the future policy of the government will be in institute work.

While the policy of the government in this regard has not yet come up for discussion in any way, allow me to take this opportunity to assure you that the government fully appreciates the fact that Women's Institutions have a very definite function in the life of the women of this province and have a very important work to perform, and if any change of policy is decided upon by the government, such changes will be actuated by a desire to increase the efficiency and usefulness of the organization."

Pan-African Congress Wants Race Equality

Absolute race equality, both physically, politically and socially, as a foundation for advancement is the claim set forth in a manifesto to the world by the Pan-African Congress in session in London last week. Various peoples of African descent in the United States, the West Indies, Central and South America and South Africa were represented.

Sweet Clover In Saskatchewan

That sweet clover can grow to mammoth proportions in Saskatchewan, is evident from a sample sent in the Regina by one of the field representatives of the Saskatchewan Department of Agriculture. The tips, bearing fragrant smelling blossoms, stood fully nine feet above ground level and as a standing crop would have afforded excellent browsing for a herd of giraffes. The sample came from a farmer at Drake, who cut it as a forage crop.

The Canadian Transporter, the latest addition to the Canadian Government Merchantile Marine was launched at Vancouver last Wednesday. It is notable for the fact that it was practically completed before it was launched.

One Reason Why Canadian Railroads Hardly Pay Way

According to figures given by Senator Casgrain, of Montreal, in a recent speech, the number of miles of railway in each, Canadian province and the number of people per mile, is as follows:—

Quebec	4,792	420
Manitoba	4,168	133
Saskatchewan	6,162	105

the Canadian poet's and poetess's in literature was given by Mrs. D. MacDonald, whose address showed a full and sympathetic knowledge of her subject. Avoiding the dryness of chronologies she told of Drummond, of Lampman, of Susanna Moody, and Isabel Crawford and of Pauline Johnson, the Indian poetess of whose work no less a person than Watts Dunstan the friend of Swinburne, and himself a poet, philosopher and critic—took a most flattering notice, which did much to give her wonderful gift a world wide fame. Mrs. MacDonald gave brief excerpts from one or two favorite passages, with a realism which was much enjoyed especially the exquisite gem 'Little brown bird' She also mentioned Robert J. Stead and Robert Service as the poets of the prairie and of the furthest north, with their gift of understanding of its ways, being one reason for their appeal to us.

After some more singing Mrs. Armour gave an address on "The common interest of the Institute for town and country," which was well received. Amongst other things she argued that "The day was past of the husband who registered his objection to his wife having her club, or society to attend—by remarking severely that 'A wife's place was in the HOME, He had now been superseded by his more farseeing brother who realized that even if his garments were "shy" of an occasional button,—yet his wife was more likely to have the needed "inspiration" to remedy these matters by attending a 'meeting' than if she stayed at home in a state of fed-upness with everything in sight,—himself included maybe."

A useful feature of the proceedings was a Question box and quite a number of inquiring minds took a chance to ask the why and wherefore of certain things in connection with Institute work. Mrs. Rogers being asked to shed the light of her wisdom on the collection of whys, she did so with convincing clearness, and to our thinking a good live question box is just about as helpful a feature on such an occasion as could possibly be introduced.

Followed the election of officers for the following positions—Constituency convener, and constituency Secretary and official representative for the branch, with local representatives on Agriculture and schools,—Home economics and Publicity,—emigration and Public health and child welfare,—Legislation, Canadianism and National events.

The result of nominations were as follows:

Mrs. Parcels re-elected Convenor, with Mrs. Roy as Secretary and official delegate.

Edgerton took Agriculture and better schools appointing Mrs. Plotmeyer for Better schools and Mrs. ——— for agriculture.

Ribstone chose Publicity and Home Economics. Mrs. J. Dallyn Home Economics and Mrs. R. Morrison Publicity.

Wainwright elected to choose their officers at their next meeting.

For Legislation and Canadianism

Chauvin chose, Mrs. Armour, Legislation; Mrs. Chas. Miller, Canadianism and National Events.

The duties in connection with the different subjects having been explained by Mrs. Rogers, the singing of 'God Save the King' ended the afternoon session.

Meanwhile in the Westminster church a committee of institute ladies under the convensorship of Mrs. Keatley had been busy preparing lunch for the visitors. On dainty tables each with its fragrant centre piece of sweet peas, etc., was spread an inviting and substantial repast consisting of a variety of salads, with ham and tongue, meats, bread and butter, a variety of cakes and jellied fruits, with tea and coffee, and the usual trimmings. To this everyone did full justice and gave full appreciation.

The ladies to whom credit is due for this part of the proceedings, and who sacrificed their chance of the afternoon session by so doing were Mesdames Keatley, Freeman MacDonald, Hawthorn, Reynolds and Ellis, who were also conspicuous next day on the 'unspectacular' but necessary part of the work known as 'tidying' up next day.

The second session opened at seven o'clock, and after singing the company was favored by the Wainwright ladies with another instrumental duet after which Reeve Parcels in a characteristic speech bade the delegates welcome in hearty fashion. This was responded to by Mrs. R. Morrison, in a very neat and appropriate little speech, with a touch of humor of Erin, about it. Mrs. Hudson then sang 'Land of Hope and Glory' that grand song which refers primarily to the Old Empire,—Mother of us all, and to us incidentally as part of the Empire.

Following this came Mrs. Rogers, whose address on "How to make the Housework Easier" was listened to with much appreciation by a large audience. While this subject of Housework is to most of us an unwelcome one in practice and a dry one to listen to a lecture on, yet Mrs. Rogers having the gift of treating subjects in an uncommon way, the end of her address found her audience, not excepting the bachelors in it, declaring they had no idea it was such a fascinating subject. Starting at the kitchen she went all through the house, making witty and useful suggestions by the way. She explained how to lighten labor, and lessen the hardships of cellar descents by the installation of a dumb waiter, (home-made). Of the installation of a hot water barrel, and a dinner wagon, all of them capable of being carpentered by the Man of the House in his hours of ease, at a nominal cost of $10.00. The only drawback we saw to the ideas was the lack of those hours of ease, in the day of the average Man of the House. However, Mrs. Rogers address was brimful of good suggestions and her address was a notable example of a lot of good advice wrapped up so artfully in a coating of wit and humour, that we swallowed it without feeling the distaste usually felt towards the common or garden form of good advice given gratis. Mrs. Rogers has had a wide experience and knows whereof she speaks, which makes her always a welcome and helpful presence on all occasions.

The company was also favored with an address by Mr. J. A. MacKenzie, solicitor, who took for his subject 'Woman's Place in Politics' He emphasised the need of education regarding legislative measures, before we can attain to our full measure of usefulness at the ballot box; and depreciated the idea of urging aliens to make haste to be naturalized for the mere purpose of serving some particular cause by recording their vote if at the same time they do not know enough of the workings of the country's ways and laws to know what they are voting for. Mr MacKenzie was accorded a hearty reception by the ladies present, who doubtless admired his pluck in venturing to give them advice on the delicate question of women in politics.

After Mrs. Parcels had expressed her appreciation of how smoothly the wheels of the convention had run, and had thanked all those responsible lady delegates from each of the other points expressed their pleasure in being present, and the president of the Wainwright Institute extended an invitation from Wainwright that the next constituency conference should be held there. This invitation having been accepted, the meeting closed with "God Save the King"; and the general impression that the real work of the Institute would be better understood because of the convention.

And now just one vote of thanks remains to be given—Three cheers and a tiger for the husbands of all those ladies (and we believe there were several) who allowed their respective wives to depart without ONCE asking—"What is the meaning of this Institute business anyway??? Good sports all of them, even in threshing time

When we advertise—we sure stick to facts. Business isn't built on lies—we stick to facts. No matter what we have to sell. The truth is good enough to tell.

We boost our goods and boost them well—but stick to facts. We tell the truth—don't overstate—just stick to facts. If the truth is not enough. Somethings wrong about our stuff. Anyhow we don't try to bluff—we stick to facts.

We have had a fair amount of success in eye testing and fitting glasses—we have fit 478 people in Chauvin and feel confident we are able to fit you with satisfaction, and at a fair price. C. C. McKechnie, Optician and Druggist, Chauvin.

Alberta Game Laws

The open season for ducks and geese will continue to December 15th with a bag of thirty per day or three hundred for the season. Sale or purchase is prohibited from Sept. 20th to March 1st. The open season for ducks and geese applies to rails, coots, black-bellied plover, golden plover, Wilson snipe and yellow-legs.

Sept. 1st also opens the season for mountain sheep and goats, which continues to the end of October. The bag limit is two males of each species.

The open season for grouse, prairie chicken and brush partridge is from October 15th to November 1st, with a limit of ten birds per day or 50 for the season. Hungarian partridge may be shot through the month of October with the same bag limitations. There is no open season for Hungarian pheasants, swans or cranes.

The "big game" season for deer, moose and caribou will open November 1st and close December 15th.

At its forthcoming meeting the assembly of the League of Nations will for the first time be called upon to decide a territorial dispute. This is a result of the League council today in referring to the assembly the entire question raised by Albania's complaint against Greece and Jugo-Slavia for occupying territory conceded to Albania by the powers in 1913.

W. L. A. Notes

The next regular meeting of the W.L.A. on Thursday September 8th will be held at the home of Mrs. MacDonald.

To speak of December on a sultry day in August seems incongruous. To mention Christmas gifts when all interest is centred in the yield of wheat per acre seems waste of time.

But our excuse is that with assistance we are trying to solve the vexing question of gifts and in order to do this we must get your attention in good time.

The W.A. of Westminster church purpose holding a bazaar early in December. This is an annual affair but this year the ladies have decided to enlarge it and hold it on a more ambitious scale.

There will be a number of booths plain work; fancy work; candy; home cooking and a number of others. Aprons, so necessary to the house wife, are considered worthy a separate stall. The men are not overlooked but will find at the "Mens Furnishing" just the gift they are looking for.

Will you please then each make at least one article. You may leave the articles with Mrs. McNutt, the president, and she will see that they reach the hands of those in charge of the different booths.

Farmers Will Be Able to Sell Their Grain to the Best Advantage

If They Keep In Touch With Local and Canadian Markets By Subscribing for the

Edmonton Journal

Every mercantile business man studies closely each day the latest quotations concerning the products in which he deals, otherwise he could not intelligently and successfully carry on his business. In the same way, the farmer should be thoroughly acquainted each day with up-to-the-minute grain, live stock, produce, and stock quotations. He will find them all itemized carefully each day in The Edmonton Journal, Northern and Central Alberta's most progressive daily newspaper.

The New Grain Is Coming In Rapidly

Grain is being hauled in very rapidly to Chauvin this season. Up to Monday night no less than fourteen cars of new wheat and rye have been received at the local elevators.

This amount would have been still greater had not the prices fallen very considerably last week.

Local Notes Of Interest

Jef Swan has received delivery of a new separator this week.

The fine weather of the past week has been very favorable to harvesting and threshing operations.

Rev. Miller, Rev. Mitchelson, accompanied by Rev. McPherson, of Ryley, left for Lloydminster early Tuesday morning in order to attend a convention at that place. Mr. A. Herbert taking them in his car.

J. A. Montjoy has received delivery of carload of hardware during the past week.

Mr. G. Snell is looking for teams and men for a full seasons run of threshing. He is offering the highest wages.

No Sir! The Chauvin business men did not close down and make Monday an holiday. They felt that it was better to remain at the service of the busy farmers. Albeit, some of them had duck for supper.

Fresh Bread Daily—J. P. Fisher, baker, Chauvin.

The meeting of the Directors of the Chauvin Agricultural Society to have been held last day was, perforce, postponed here was not a quorum for the meeting.

Hard On Ducks!

Labor Day in Chauvin somewhat resembled a Bankers' Conference, for the following old-timers made a visit to us. Messrs Anderson, Fitzpatrick, and King. They came fully armed, and according to reports they were very hard on the ducks.

Ribstone Fall Fair: Next Saturday

There is every indication that the fall fair at Ribstone next Saturday will prove one of the most successful ever held by the enterprising ladies of the Ribstone Women's Institute.

It is unnecessary to urge that you make your entries early and that you also bring in your exhibits in good time to enable the officers to do their work efficiently. You will, of a matter of course, bring the whole family and have a good day of recreation.

School Fair

Do not forget the Chauvin and district school fair. Make your entries early, and get the exhibits in in good time. Incidentally please to remember that funds are needed for the success of the undertaking.

ADMINISTRATION

Another word which is sometimes used for the executive is the administration. The body of men who carry on the government is often called the "administration," since it is their duty to see that the duties of their respective departments or branches of government are administered or carried out in accordance with law. For instance, it is the duty of the minister of customs, and the collectors at every port of Canada, to administer the law passed by parliament for the regulation and collection of duties and customs on goods coming into Canada from other countries. It is the duty of the minister of public works, and of the engineers, architects and clerks under his control, to look after the construction, repairs, and maintenance of public buildings, like post offices and custom houses, and otherwise administer the affairs of the department. It is the duty of the commissioner of crown lands in a province to carry out the regulations for the sale of public lands and the licensing of "timber limits" and to administer all the functions devolving upon his department by law. And it is the duty of the warden mayor or other head of a municipal council to see that the affairs of his municipality with the law governing municipal institutions.

PARLIAMENT

The name of that great legislative body which has performed so remarkable a part in the history of England, and gives a designation to the principal law-making body of Canada, is said by one of the highest authorities, Professor Freeman, to be simply a Norman French term which goes back to the time of William the Conqueror. The King is said in an old English record or chronicle to have had "very deep speech"—parlement—with his national or common council (in Latin commune concilium). This deep speech, or parlement, in the end gave its name to the "assembly," which has, in the course of time, assumed the somewhat changed form of parliament (in low Latin parlamentum). The House of Commons—that body in which political power mainly rests—does not at all mean that the great mass of the people of England, "the commalty" was ever represented in the early assemblies. On the contrary, the word "common" was restricted in meaning to the knights of shires or counties, and the burgesses or citizens of towns or boroughs and cities, whose local bodies—called communities in legal Latin documents because their members had certain privileges in common—elected the representatives in question. Gradually the term "commons" came, to mean those classes of the people who were not lords or peers summoned to the upper house, and who could be elected to the lower or commons house. Even the sons of the peers or lords of parliament are commoners—identified with the mass of people. In this way, there grew up two houses of parliament: one consisting of the classes or estates called "lords spiritual and temporal,"—peers, archbishops,—and the other, that estate which takes in the rest of the people and is now called the Commons of Great Britain and Ireland. In Canada there has never been such distinctions as "estates" or classes. The members of the legislative councils of the provinces, and of the senate of the Dominion, the upper houses of our parliament and legislatures differ from the lower only in being appointed for life term of four or five years by the people and have no special class privileges. Under the laws that now prevail by the governors, representing the king, instead of being elected for a full term throughout Canada prescribing the qualification of voters, rich and poor, the employer and the employee, all can alike be represented in our legislative bodies and so have their various interests protected.

CONCLUSION

However brief and incomplete the foregoing explanations may be, it will be well for my reader to bear them in mind and to refer to them whilst studying this short review of the government institutions of Canada. Other words and phrases that apply to the details of government will be more conveniently explained as each branch of the subject comes up.

POWERS OF GOVERNMENT

1. Executive.—The administering of the laws.
2. Legislative.—The making of the laws.
3. Judicial.—The interpreting and applying the law and awarding punishment to those who break the laws.

Alberta ButterGrades High

The quality of the butter submitted to date by provincial creameries in the Dominion educational scoring contest is better than any in any previous year according to the Dominion Dairy Commissioner, J. A. Ruddick, Edmonton City Dairy secured the highest score of any sample since the competition commenced in 1919, with 98 points for their July sample. The highest scoring sample for June was supplied by the Central Creameries, May by the Shoal Lake Creamery of Manitoba with 97 points.

Skeleton Of APrehistoric Man*Found At La Pas

The discovery of a human skeleton at Le Pas has excited considerable local interest. It is thought that the skeleton is probably 15,000 years old. It is the intention of the Rupert's Land Society to send it to Winnipeg and have it examined by experts and a report made. It will then probably be displayed in the society's museum at Le Pas.

Be Careful AboutDiseased Ducks

The mysterious disease which attacked ducks and geese two years ago is again reported from the Lake Johnston district, Sask. They are reported as being healthy in other districts it is advisable however to only shoot birds on the wing, and to reject any birds that are not plump.

A Useful Publication

In January 1921, the Department of Education commenced publication of a monthly periodical entitled "The School Agriculture and Club Leader" devoted almost entirely to the interests of school agriculture and associated activities. One section of the publication deals with Rural Education Association interests, another with School Exhibition affairs, a third with Boys' and Girls' Club work and a fourth with general topics. The "Leader" is sent to all school teachers newspapers and banks in the province as well as to every enrolled member of a boys' and girls' club and contains much timely and serviceable information of value to all interested in rural education.

Marble and asbestos deposits have been discovered in the Beaver Lake district, north of The Pas, Manitoba.

On re-opening the original oil well of the Imperial Oil Co. at Fort Norman, Mackenzie river, oil rose to a considerable height above the derrick, proving it to be a real "gusher".

It is said the Mackenzie river on fields are likely to make Canada independent of other countries for oil supplies. Last year $70,000,000 worth of petroleum and petroleum products were imported.

Canada stands second as an automobile owning nation. There is in use one auto for every twenty-one persons in the country.

Vermilion was the scene of a fire last week that destroyed the blackshop and a cream buying station. The damages are assessed at $4000. This is the second fire in Vermilion within one week.

There is little doubt that the arrival of further important news from the north at the end of the present summer and the finding of more oil will be the signal for an oil boom of unprecedented magnitude.

The Union Bank is to open a branch at once at Fort Murray. E. T. Parsons, formerly manager at Gravelburg, Sask., will be in charge.

Disease among ducks and other water fowl is reported from Lake Johnston district, Sask. Authorities advise hunters to only shoot flying birds and reject thin ones.

The rioting in the Malabar district of India, is resultant of friction between the Hindus and Mohammedans.

Heavy demands for Canadian furs bid fair to keep fur prices steady this season.

A conference was opened in Ottawa, September 3rd in order to consider uniformity of provincial legislation.

Reminding his congregation that the bishops of Quebec had issued instructions to parish priests to refuse the sacraments to such of their parishioners as persisted in sending their children to Protestant schools, Rev. James, Montreal yesterday at High mass, warned parents of the dangers from a Catholic viewpoint of neglecting to send their children to Catholic schools which he claimed were equal to any in regard to the teaching of material subjects.
